

Other Celebrities Who Will Be Joining the Obama Administration

by Baron von Funny

Kal Penn, one of the stars of the Harold & Kumar movie series and a cast member on House, announced this week that he is leaving acting to take a job as an associate director at the Office of Public Liaison, where he will help the Obama administration connect with arts and entertainment groups as well as the Asian and Pacific Islander communities. Word has it that this is just the first of many upcoming new additions to the White House...
